WORLD'S FAIR FIGHT.

SECOND DAY'S CONTEST FOR THE GREAT NATIONAL PRIZE.

Congressman Quinn Abandons the War of Oratory and Fries the Effect of Poetry on the Tough Hides of His Adversaries.

The atmosphere which enveloped the Capitol building this morning was per-meated with World's Fair. In the lobbles, New York Congressmen floated about anxiously looking for familiar New York faces of men who should bave been here yesterday to help further the interest of the metropolis as the location for the fair, but the faces they longed for failed to materialize. Only one man from New York up to nearly noontime had put in an appearance to aid the represen-tatives in their task to show why their city is the "only one where the nation at large can be best benefited by the holding of the Fair." This man was Colonel Elliot F Shepard and he looked lonesome among the great crowd of Chicago people who slocked about, hobnobbing with every man whom they thought could in any way aid them in declaring that the Windy City offers better accommodations and more complete facilities than any other in the United States. So confident did these delegates from Chicago seem that it gave an air of conclusiveness to the at-mosphere that New York, so far as the fair is concerned, can take a back seat and wait for something else to come along which they desire more than they do the fair.

lea; he never knew there was The Chicago people say that if New York wanted the fair badly they would show a more anxious disposition to obtain it than they are doing at present. The New York Representatives themselves claim that the luke-warmness of the people in New York is astonishing to them, and that instead of waiting until the Chicago delegation had canvassed the House and the arguments are over, to come down and work they should have been first on the scene kept on increasing, helped by Governand have gotten their blows in ahead of ment appropriations, the people would finally break down under the burden of any city.

The New York members were working like beavers this morning, without the assistance of their friends from the assistance of their friends from home, and scattered themselves throughout the House and parleyed with York or Washington or St. Louis every member where they thereby every member where they thought good could result. Con-men could raise the necessary gressmen Flower, Quinn and McCarthy were jumping about with be-wildering nimbieness, and were getting in telling blows everywhere. It was clearly noticed, however, that among the disinterested members there was a dispersion toward another concerning. disposition toward apathy concerning New York, with a somewhat stronger feeling for Chicago.

Dame Gossip came on the scene during the morning and whispered it around that a move was on foot for a dead set against New York as the city for the fair and that should it be seen by the Chicago people that their chances by the Chicago people that their chances are dead they will cast their ballots in favor of Washington, thereby cutting off New York from the coveted prize. So anxious are the New York members of the House to create a good impression that some of them have stopped resorting to the prosy entreaties which have shown themselves of late. Congressman Quinn in particular has taken to attacking the senti mental members of the House with classic entreaties. Here is one of Mr. Quinn's forcible efforts:

Columbia's sons, let them be near or far, Confess New York first in peace and war, And by the mighty Hudson, only there, Most fitting place to hold a World's Fair. Chicago, giant of the glorious West, St. Louis, Washington, calm your troubled

Judge John Henry McCarty, from ew York, came primed and cocked to advocate the all-important subject which is aggitating the minds of the nation when the hour for New York's arguments began, and so did the old war-horse, General Spinola, Iceman Turner, and Dimpley. It was their turn to talk to day during New York's last hour.

Congressman Flower was asked what he thought of the action of the people in New York in not coming down and giving their Representatives a lift on the World's Fair business, like Chicago had done. He answered: got men here, thirty-four of them, all in line and all Congressmen.

He concluded with the significant remark: "We are not trying to buy Con-

Congressman Amos J. Cummings was livelier this morning than has been noticed of him in a long time, and sald that if the New York members stick together solidly they can get the fair without any help from delegations from New York City.

When the house was rappe to order by Speaker Reed the gall ies were packed with enthusiastic visitors. New York and Chicago were solid and the members glared at each other, each one determined to outdo the other in the race for supremacy. Among those

Mr. Karsey produced figures to prove his assertion that the telegraph rates in Europe were not much lower, as Mr. Wanamaker had inferred, than those in America, but were in fact higher. The workingmen of this county, he contended, do not use the telegraph, therefore the passage of the Wana-maker measure would not help them. The telegraph companies were supported largely by stock gamblers. He did not believe that a reduction in the price of messages could be made without a corresponding reduction in the wages of the operators and other employes. Mr. Karsey strenuously objected to placing this scheme in the hands of a party. He believed there would be discrimina-

HOW THE PLAN HAS WORKED IN KANSAS.

Making Headway in Canada—Widows and Spinsters Vote at Municipal Elections—Complaint From Sait Lake City.

Mrs. Mary E. Holmes of Illinois was the first speaker at this morning's ses-sion of the Woman Suffrage Associa-tion Convention at Lincoln Music Hall, and gave a good report for the work in that State.
Dr. Emily H. Stowe reported for Canada that the woman suffrage move ment was making headway in that con servative country, and that since 1884 widows and spinsters had voted at mu nicipal elections. The progress was very encouraging, she said, and the women were working for full suffrage. Mrs. Sarah M. Kimball of Salt Lake City told of the disenfranchisement of women in that Territory by the Edmunds bill, which she denounced as an outrage, because it deprived women of a vested right without a trial after hav-ing voted for sixteen years.

For Indiana, Mrs. Mary Wright Sewell stated that much of the past year's work had been of a negative character, being chiefly devoted to showing that there is no connection between woman suffrage and the Prohi-bition movement. Mrs. Sewell an-nounced her opposition to prohibition. The work in Kansas, where women already have the right to vote at mu-nicipal elections, was detailed by Mrs. Laura M. Johns, who said that the women voters were steadily gaining in numbers and influence in securing proper nominations and elections. Colonel Anthony of Leavenworth, the brother of Miss Susan B. Anthony. added his testimony that woman suf frage in Kansas had been successful. "It is a fact," he said, "that not 10 per cent, of the women of Leavenworth desired suffrage. It was thrust upon them. At the first election 1,700 out of 4,000 women in Leavenworth registered and voted, and the election was as quiet as a church-yard. At the election last spring 95 per cent, of the women registered and voted. About 10 per cent, more of them voted for the law and order side than for the other. election demonstrated that the votes of most of the women were con trolled by their husbands and fathers. Colonel Anthony failed to state that he was the candidate for mayor at that election, and that, notwithstanding that most of the women voted for him, he was overwhelm-ingly defeated by the Democratic candidate. He denied the stories of disorderly conduct by women at the elections, and said that the presence of women at the polls was more conducive to good order than any quantity of

In answer to questions Mrs. Johns said that the fact of women voting had had no effect on their matrimo nial prospects, and that in Kansas the marriage licenses were increasing while the divorces were decreasing Miss Anthony stated that four cities in Kansas were governed by women and that they had proved very successful. Mrs. Emily B. Ketcham read the report for Michigan, stating that a woman suffrage bill had been passed by the lower house of the Legislature, but de-feated in the Senate. The women of most of the cities of the State have

JOHN LEWIS CAUSES A SENSATION IN THE MURDER TRIAL.

He Declares That Henry Johnson Committed the Crime_George Williams Deptes He Made Any Confession to His Sweeheart,

The murder trial of Henry Johnson was renewed in the Criminal Court this morning, George Williams was recalled to the stand and he positively denied that he had at any time, either at the home of his sweetheart or at the Jall, admitted that he, and not Henry Johnson, had killed Enoch Turner. Maria Bolton testified to having met

George Williams on the corner of Conneetlent avenue and Seventeenth street after the shooting, and in conversation he told her that he had shot Enoch Turner, but for goodness sake "not to give him away." James Waters, now serving sentence at the District Juli for receiving stolen goods, swore that George Williams had told him in the jail that he had broken the revolver up and thrown it in the General Carrington objected to the admission of this evidence.

District Attorney Lipscomb maintained that he had the right to put in rebuttal any evidence that might tend to discredit and overcome the impression formed by some of the witnesses that George Wilson had shot Enoch Judge Bingham ruled that the evidence ought not to be admitted.

The witness was permitted to pro-ceed: "I was with George Williams and Henry Johnson on the night of the shooting at Aunt Hetty Green's, George Williams mentinto the house and Henry John-son and I stood on the sidewalk in front, Enoch Turner came while we were standing there, and step ping up to Henry Johnson looked into his face. Johnson then pulled the revolver and shot Turner.
